

10 Summer Beers In & Around The City

by Henry Stewart

May 27, 2009

SHMALTZ: Rejewvenator From the company that brews Coney Island Lager and He'Brew beers comes Rejewvenator: half dubbel — a Belgian style of dark-colored beer invented by monks — and half doppelbock—another dark-colored monk-born beer, this one Bavarian — made from dates. It tastes like wine-flavored beer, and it got us tipsy.

Ideal Summertime Situation During Which to Drink It:

Shavuot, in late May, the Jewish holiday that celebrates the end of the barley harvest and the start of the wheat harvest. You can make beer from all those things!